These are specimens of a sort of rondeau which I think I shall become partial to--because you have one idea amplified with greater ease and more delight and freedom than in the sonnet. It is my intention to wait a few years before I publish any minor poems--and then I hope to have a volume of some worth--and which those people will relish who cannot bear the burthen of a long poem. In my journal I intend to copy the poems I write the days they are written--there is just room I see in this page to copy a little thing I wrote off to some Music as it was playing--I had a dove and the sweet dove died, And I have thought it died of grieving: O what could it grieve for it was tied With a silken thread of my own hands weaving. Sweet little red-feet why should you die Why should you leave me--sweet dove why You lived alone in the forest tree. Why pretty thing could you not live with me I kissd you oft and gave you white peas. Why not live sweetly as in the green trees Sunday 3 January 1819. I have been dining with Dilke to day. --He is up to his Ears in Walpoles letters. Mr. Manker is there, and I have come round to see if I can conjure up anything for you. Kirkman came down to see me this...
