PHONOGRAPHY IN THE OFFICE INCLUDING BUSINESS PHRASES AND CONTRACTIONS, LETTERS, C

RareBooksClub. Paperback. Book Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. Paperback. 50 pages. Original publisher: Washington : U. S. G. P. O. : For sale by the U. S. G. P. O. , Supt. of Docs. , Congressional Sales Office, 2001. OCLC Number: (OCoLC)47835426 Subject: Creative writing (Elementary education) -- United States. Excerpt: . . . 11 thinking ability rather than technical skills, and an eighth grade student, with minimal reading and mathematical ability, should be able to pass that test. However, unfortunately, 70 to 75 percent cannot. It is also becoming very difficult to recruit professional level people, as well, and this is because there are a declining number of people enrolled in demanding academic fields such as engineering and computer sciences. Our high schools are just not producing enough people who are qualified to pursue degrees in these fields, and yet, we as business people must meet the demands of global competition, which requires productive employees who can function effectively in the information age. Unfortunately, we are not getting them. The experience of the Southern Company, I feel, is no different than that for other employers. Well, that is the bad news, but there is good news. Business needs employees who are literate in language arts and math, who can think and solve problems and who can behave ethically. Writing is a basic literacy skill, and there is also a clear connection between writing and thinking. When writing is emphasized in school, students will develop their abilities to think, which is an essential workplace skill. That is why we believe that the National Writing Project and the Mississippi Writing Thinking Institute are so important to creating a qualified and productive workforce. Over the past several years, emphasis has been placed on raising academic standards for student achievement....
